gained in literacy

2 months
gained in math

"I understood a lot more than what I did in school and grew over reading more and knowing how to solve more math problems." - participant

"We are so grateful for this program. Our son is talking about fractions and asking for math problems at bedtime. The structure of the program in the summer has been great! [...] We couldn't be more pleased with this program." - family member

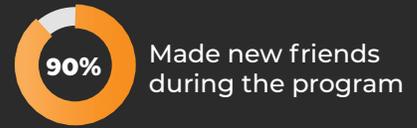

"The most memorable part of the program were the "Aha!" moments the children had on their faces when they "got it." Some of my students struggled the first and second week of the program. Today they are reading and comprehending text. [...] Very pleased with their efforts this summer." - staff member

Were involved in their child's experience

"This is a model program in every way. I can't possibly describe all of the things happening here, but here are a few of the most important elements:

- 1. Community: The ethos and operation of this program are all completely aligned with the valuing of the child and the family as a center of knowledge, experience, and growth potential.*
- 2. Connection: This is a very high level of contact and communication between the educational team and family. We feel like one big family and this means we can recognize a lot of the growth that is taking place.*
- 3. High expectation, high support: The children are supported to meet social, emotional, and academic goals."*
